

Range Builders #3

Bb Trumpet

Okay, so these exercises are very high and most of us cannot hit a lot of these notes. There are a lot of people, however, who can play (and play very well) these notes (and higher!). There is also a fair amount of jazz band music which goes this high. Keep in mind that you are exercising your lips, breathing muscles, and embouchure, so, again, rest for a bit after each line. You might even try playing soft low notes for a few moments after each line, too. This will relax your chops and get blood back into them. Be patient with your range. If you're becoming sore while trying these, then stop and come back a day or so later.
